CYNTHIANA, MAY 13, 1869.

Democratic, Right or wrong.

LONG AGO.

BY PHILIP HENDERSON.

Oh! a wonderful stream is the river of Time
As it runs through the realms of years:
With a lullaby rhythm and a musical chime
And a broadening sweep and a surge sublime,
As it blends with the ocean of tears.

How the winters are drifting like flakes of snow,
And the summers like birds between,
With the year in the sheet—so they come and go.
On the river's breast, with its ebb and flow,
As it glides through the shadow and shew.

There's a magical isle on the river of Time, Where the softest airs are playing:
There's a cloudless sky and a tropical clime,
And a song as sweet as a vesper chime,
And the June with the roses staying.

And the name of that isle is the "Long Ago."
And we bury our treasures there: There are brows of beauty and bosoms of snow;
There are hearts of dust—we loved them so—
There are dresses and trinkets of hair.

There are fragments of songs that nobody sings,
And a part of an infant's prayer: There's a lute unwept and a harp without strings,
There are broken vows and pieces of rings,
And the garments she used to wear.

There are hands that are waved from the fair shore,
When the mirage is lifted in air;
And we sometimes hear through the turbulent roar, Sweet voices we heard in the days gone before.

When the wind down the river was fair, Oh! remembered forays be the blessed island,
All the days of life, till the night; When the evening comes with its beautiful smile,
And our eyes are closing to slumber awhile.

May our "Greenwood" of soul be in sight.
[From the "Missouri Democracy,"] A KENTUCKY WHISKY FAIR.

A Few Practical Suggestions.

It having been suggested that a whisky fair should be held at Cynthiana (Ky.) by the Bourbon whisky makers of Kentucky, the Cynthiana Democrat, "The Organ of the Bourbon Whisky Trade," says "this is a move in the right direction," and Cynthiana "the right place." We cordially agree with our Kentucky contemporary in its assertion that the "Maiden City" is the "right place." If there is a spot on God's green earth where whisky is My Lord Paramount, Cynthiana, Ky., is that spot.
We heartily endorse the selection of that city for the purpose of a whisky fair. We should like to take the judges by the arms, and with a bottle of the "staple" in hand, take them a strolling with us, while we lead them to many battle-grounds where whisky came off the victor in the few brief years of our own personal recollection.

First we would lead them to the crest of the hill east of town, and pointing to a low dark ravine, south of the Augusta road, and on the old Cole farm, and tell them the story of the hanging of poor Dave Shelly, who murdered his wife while drunk.
And then we would propose a toast:
"Here's to the repose of Dave's soul," and drink it in the same liquor that led him through the red valley of murder to the gibbet, death and hell!

Then we would turn northward, until we stood on the summit of Fra-zier's hill, and, parting the weeds in a sinkhole, point to the stump of the gallows whereon young Tom Shannon was sacrificed for the murder of John Devine. We would also propose—in the same liquor that placed the halter about Tom's neck—a toast to his lost soul!

Then turning to the south, travers-ing Main street, we would lead them up Magee's Hill, and pointing off to the west, across Jo. Desha's farm, until their eyes rested on a spot on the Georgetown pike, about three hundred yards beyond where Gray's Run crosses the latter thoroughfare, and we would tell the story of Endicott, who was hanged there for murdering his step father, an old man, while under the influence of the glorious and generous beverage. And we would drink to the repose of Endicott's soul!

We live in a land of liberty. We have purchased the right to demolish the character, destroy the health, shorten the lives, and ruin the souls of those who will do us the honor to patronize the "Bourbon Whisky Trade."

In submitting this brief and comprehensive platform of our honorable and highly respectable league, I

Then as we returned to the city, we would pause at the bridge across the Licking, and tell of the happy death of Boyers, who fell by the steel in the hands of a drunken man.

Then when we reached the intersection of Main and Pike streets, we would talk to them of the death of that poor, innocent stranger, a mere looker-on to a drunken brawl, who was there struck down by a stray bullet.

We would point up Pike to the spot where Dave Buzzard was shot down, another victim to whisky.

Then we would lead them to the doorstep of the Christian Church, away up Main street, and tell them the story of the killing of a fine young lad, shot down in the pure wantonness of drunkenness, by a young friend and associate. And there we would drink peace to the soul of poor Newt. Day.

Then we would lead them to the old cemetery, and point out the scores of graves whose occupants were brought there by whisky.

Having shown them all these interesting and instructive sights, we would then seek the building wherein the fair was being held.

We would vote for the pious and venerable Cornice, the largest, wealthiest, and, consequently, most respectable distiller in the Commonwealth, who would be placed in nomination for the Presidency of the Kentucky Bourbon Distiller's Fair Association, and, intently, breathlessly and applaudingly we would listen to his

ADDRESS.

MY FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS:—I thank you for the distinguished honor you have just been pleased to confer upon me. You know I am no orator, but a plain, hard working man, and you will not expect an elaborate address from me on this occasion. I feel, however, that it is necessary for me to say something in favor of the noble calling we follow to accumulate honest competencies for ourselves and families, as I imagine your action in selecting me as President of your first fair, in a measure places me before the public in the attitude of an "Organ of the Bourbon Whisky Trade."

I shall say what I have to say in as brief time as possible, and in as plain language as I can command, as I am no ready talker, as you all know, and make no pretensions to oratory.

In anticipation of the unexpected and altogether unlooked for honor you have just conferred upon me, my friends and neighbors, I have written out a few reflections, which, if you will indulge me with your attention for a few moments, I will now read to you.

The distilling season has just commenced, and we are all engaged in the honorable and lucrative business of manufacturing sober and industrious citizens into drunkards, paupers and beggars.

We shall make none but the purest spirits, which will invite men to riot, robbery and bloodshed, and by so doing diminish the comforts, increase the expense, and endanger the welfare of the community.

We shall manufacture an article which will, in the shortest time and without fail, prepare victims for the poor-house, asylum, prison and gallows.

We will furnish an article suited to the taste, which will increase the number of fatal accidents, multiply distressing diseases, and render those comparatively harmless incurable.

We will produce a liquor which will deprive some of life, many of reason, most of property, and all of peace; which will transform fathers into fiends, cause wives to become widows, children to become orphans and all to become great sufferers.

We will cause the rising generation to grow up in ignorance, and prove a nuisance to the nation; cause mothers to forget their helpless children, and priceless virtue no longer to remember its value.

We will endeavor to corrupt the ministers of the gospel, defile the purity of the churches, and cause spiritual, temporal, and eternal deaths.

If any should be so impertinent as to ask why we have the audacity to bring such accumulated misery upon a comparatively happy community, our honest reply is "Greenbacks."

The "Bourbon Whisky Trade" is lucrative, and some professing fer-mance men and Christians give it their cheerful countenance. Besides, we have our license from government, and if we don't lriq these evils upon the people some one else will.

We live in a land of liberty. We have purchased the right to demolish
the character, destroy the health, shorten the lives, and ruin the souls
of those who will do us the honor to patronize the "Bourbon Whisky Trade."

In submitting this brief and comprehensive platform of our honorable and highly respectable league, I have done all that seems to me proper on this occasion. I thank you, my friends and neighbors, for your kind and patient attention."

After the uproarious applause subsides, when the venerable President takes his seat, we shall expect a select choir, consisting of drunkards' daughters, to sing that stirring bacchanalian glee, "Father, Come Home," to be followed by the recitation of the rollicking poem commencing with, "Go feel what I have felt," by some lady whose father was an ornament to the village bar-room in lie; and in dying, a martyr to his love of whisky.

Then we shall expect the Fair to close with a grand ball at some popular hotel or hall, and all to taper off with two or three pleasant and fac-tious murders by young men under the influence of whisky. By all means give us the Fair, and let Cynthiana be the place.

[From the Richmond (Va.) Enquirer.]

On Scalawags.

Living languages grow: with new exigencies fresh words are coined or old ones receive new application to answer the demand. When the bub-blings of civil commotion threw to the surface of society an impure scum which had before been intertured among its lower strata, it was felt that some word of pictorial power was needed to represent and consecrate to scorn the disgusting phenomenon.
It was supplied by the farmer.

When he sees among his flock a black sheep, lean and ill-conditioned, which feeding will not fatten nor nurture, covered with burrs and filth, disposed to catch and communicate every passing distemper, but still going about with sniveling nose and rheumy eyes, apparently rejoicing in the rattling dishonors of its tail, he at once pronounces it a scalawag.

And when amid the seethings of the revolutionary cauldron, certain disreputable things, gaunt and ill favored, hungry for office, and never satisfied with getting, prone to corruption and eager to contaminate others, were seen to emerge from the depths of society, "like infernal frogs from the pit of Acheron," thousands of throats hissed out scalawags. Even the sable sons of Africa recognized the exquisite aptness of designation, and with nostrils broadening with a snort of contempt, yelled forth the epithet which consigns them to universal derision.

Junius remarks that "the people are seldom wrong in their opinions; in their sentiments they are never mistaken." A high instinct guides them in their moral judgments.
Blackened and charred as the human soul is in the furnace of its own passions, it never wholly loses its capacity of distinguishing between the plainly right and the palpably wrong.
The strong blast of universal contempt which withers the scalawag fixes his dom forever.

He has stripped himself of the last rag of respectability, and walks gawd-ing in a tawdry attire of shams and pretences. He has surrendered, at the bidding of a master, all the convictions, affections, sensibilities and prejudices which from early infancy has entwined themselves about his heart-strings, and for what? The "consideration" which "like an angel came to whip the offending Adam out of him," is some paltry office con-temptuously tossed to him by his former slaves and present task-masters. For this he forfeits the gratulating hand of Friendship—for this he relinquishes the sweet assurance of welcome which beamed from a neighbor's face—for this he turns his back on kith and kin and color, and advocates uniformity of political privileges to all complexions and conditions, though he knows that it involves for us social equality and possible amalgamation. Like the unhappy Claudio, he professes to be willing to "encounter darkness as a bride, and hug it in his arms."

Esau sold his birthright for a mess of pottage, but haply he was unconscious of the spiritual blessing he was bartering away. Judas committed yet a more awful crime, but at least he manifested a guilty remorse. But the scalawag is a conscious, deliberate, unrepenting traitor, who would envy Judas his bargain and defraud Esau of his broth. He breathes an atmosphere of insincerity, speaks the shibboleth of hypocrisy, and bathes his soul in haleyon seas of falsehood.
"The man that was used up" by the Kickapoo, but who repaired the ravages of war with the appliances of art, and obtained a false eye, false tongue, and false limbs, but for the fact that he was remodeled after an elegant pattern, was a fine type of a reconstructed scalawag.

There are subjects on which thought is painful. Pascal complained that the measureless expanses of the heavenly spaces terrified him. The ignite prolongations of eternity confound; the depths under deeps, the abysses swallowing up abysses of human degradation, freeze as with horror. To see a Southerner, once, perhaps, a bright-eyed boy, endowed with capacities for usefulness, with a soul crowded with noble aspirations, dwarfed by a mean love of place into a vile, crawling, wriggling creature—to see him deliberately lay bare his back while the Radical beadle plies the lash, crying, "Even so, master, since it seems good in thy"— welcoming the fast descending rod as an emblem of mercy, kissing the foot that spurns him—"if angels weep, it is at such a sight!"

Shakspeare has drawn a Shallow, a Slender, and a Silence—he has portrayed the nearest approach to mere inanity, but he draws with loving touch and delights to show a soul of goodness in things evil. But even that universal genius, in whose vast mind was set all that God ever vouch-sated, never conceived of a scalawag.
His generous nature feeling "how fearful and how dizzy 'tis to cast one's eyes so low," recoiled from looking into the fouler depths of human debasement. This was reserved for a fiercer and meaner spirit who gave us the first preliminary sketch and faint adumbration of the coming monster; for the scalawag is the bright consummate flower of which the Yahoo is the modest bud.

Let us hope that even he is not altogether without some aspirations for what he deems noble and exalted.
It really seems that he, too, has his ideal. His notion of human perfection—his ideal of unfallen Adam walking around the bowers of Paradise is carpet-bagger. "But what must be the worshipper when money is the God?"

THE WANDERING JEW.—Tradition hands down to us through the hands of fiction the beautiful and thrilling legend of the Wandering Jew. This mournful wanderer is represented as travelling incessantly through the world without rest or aim; and it is said that once a century he meets the wandering Jewess—Herodias, at Berthel's strait; she on the Asiatic shore, and he on the American. They see each other in a kneeling position —and only through the agency of the Aurora, which as it were, brings them face to face. After the Aurora vanquishes, the wanderers are separated to meet no more for ages. The Aurora was visible but a few weeks ago in the north—and an old aged grey-haired man, with elastic yet mournful step; clad in white habiliments, wearing wooden shoes, and bare-headed, appeared in the streets of our city week last. No one knew his story, nor does he tell it to any one.
Can it be that we are to see the unfortunate arizon of Jerusalem in our midst.—[Maysville Sun.]

A PRETTY WOMAN.—A pretty woman is one of the institutions of the country—an angel in muslin and glory. She makes sunshine, happiness, and blue sky wherever she goes.
Her path is one of delicious roses, perfumes and beauty. She is a sweet poem, written in rare colors and choice silk, and principles. Men stand up before her as so many admiration points. Her words float around the ear like music, birds of paradise or the perfumes of sabbath bells, without her society would lose its truest attractions, the church its finest reliance, the young men their very best company. Her influence and generosity restrain the vicious, strengthens the faint-hearted. Wherever you find the virtuous woman you also find fireside bouquets, clean clothes, order, good living, gentle hearts, music, and light, and modern institution generally. She is the flower of humanity, and her inspiration the breath of heaven.

LAWYERS IN CONGRESS.—Out of sixty-six Senators whose occupations are stated in the Congressional directory, forty-five are lawyers, five merchants, five editors, four farmers or planters, three bankers, two teachers, one a manufacturer and one a railroad owner. Quite a preponderance of the disciples of Coke. The House is not quite as strong in that element; but there are mentioned as lawyers one hundred and nineteen, merchants nineteen, editors sixteen, farmers seven, manufacturers six, railroad men five, bankers five, ministers two, doctors two, painter one and prize fighter one.

The manager of a country theatre looked into the house between the acts, and turned with a face of dismay to the prompter, with the question of, "Why, good gracious, where is the audience?" "Sir," replied the prompter, "without moving a muscle, 'he's just now gone to get some beer.'"

There is a man in Shenectady so mean that he buttons his shirt with wafers. He is the same old gentleman who looks at his money through a magnifying glass. By this means, he says, a quarter looks as big as half dollar.

An excursion party on velocipedes left Indianapolis on Tuesday, for Richmond, Ind., a distance of seventy miles. The average time on good roads was about five miles an hour.
Not very velocipede, that.

CYNTHIANA, MAY 13, 1869.

A. J. MOREY, Editor.

Democratic, Right or Wrong.

Dedication of the Confederate Monument.

Much preparation is being made just now by the Confederate Monument Association of this County, for the Dedication of the Confederate Monument recently sent here by Muldron & Co., of Louisville, the ceremonies of which will take place on Thursday, May 27th, 1869, at the New Cemetery near this city.

The Committee on Invitations, consisting of Dr. A. J. Beale, Capt. Joe Desha, and C. W. West, have reported that Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Fayette county, has accepted the position of Orator of the Day; and a splendid address may be expected.

Preparations are being made by the Association to have a grand affair on Dedication Day. Gen. J. C. Breckinridge, Gen. Preston, Gen. G. B. Hodge, Gen. Backner, Gen. Kirby Smith, Gen. Marshall, Gen. George Crittenden, and a host of other mighty names who stood up for free government and Constitutional rights, will be here.

This monument is not peculiarly for Harrison County, nor for Cynthiana, but for the whole State, the whole South; for every man and every nation, whose children and whose people have shed their blood in defence of their homes, in defence of their country, in defence of Justice and Truth. It is another monument to all the fallen heroes whose actions were governed by the same spirit which immortalized that Swiss patriot, Arnold Winkelried. And in a national spirit, we are authorized to invite all persons to meet in Cynthiana, on the 27th of this month, and devote one day in honoring those who fell for the right.

The ladies, God bless them, have always been friends to justice and truth, and nothing of importance has ever succeeded fully without their smiles and hearty co-operation. In this monumental affair, their assistance will be needed very much, and we are requested to say, and on our own behalf, we say, that it is expected that every lady in Harrison, who can, will bring a basket of provisions and a bouquet of flowers.

In a short time large hand bills will be spread through the country, giving the orders of the day from the Grand Marshall. It will be published in our next issue.

THE SEVENTH OF JUNE.—The Courier-Journal of last week proposes to the people of Kentucky, and as far as we have heard from, the proposition is endorsed by the Kentucky Press, that as the Seventh day of June was the day on which Daniel Boone arrived in Kentucky; and as it will be on that day just one hundred years since his foot was first set upon her soil, that the people of the good old commonwealth should meet at Frankfort on that day, and pleasantly celebrate it, and listen to a speech from Gen. John C. Breckinridge.

We believe the people Harrison county will favor the proposition. We believe that a good number of the old fathers of democracy would attend on the Seventh, and have their spirits and faith renewed in the old democratic principles which were held by their fathers and grand fathers.

Let us suggest to the movers in this centennial anniversary, that all native Kentuckians, now residing in other States, be invited to meet their friends and neighbors, at Frankfort, on the Seventh of June.

Speaking of Kentuckians, we must be excused for stating that while in Missouri recently, we met Lewis Bryan, Esq., now residing on his farm near Palmyra. He was once a citizen of Fayette County, and removed to Mo., while that country remained in a territorial condition. He is now in the 84 year of his age, and his grand-father and three uncles lay buried near Bryan Station, on Elkhorn. The Bryan's all settled at the station, and Daniel Bryan, and the settlers thereabouts, sent a Preacher named Parker, to Richmond, in old Virginia, to buy all the Land Patents covering that portion of Kentucky. Just before Parker reached Richmond, he was met by a man named Rogers, who had started for Kentucky. They camped together the night after they met, and Parker unbosomed himself to Rogers—giving him a full description of the fair land which he had just left, and the business which brought him to Old Virginia. Early next morning they parted, each seemingly going in different directions, but imagine the surprise which overcame Rogers when he found that Parker had reached Richmond some time in advance of him and purchased all Patents which covered the Land occupied by the Bryans, and their neighbors, in and about Bryan's Station, Fayette county. This trick, which Rogers played off upon Parker, threw a large amount of splendid Lands into the hands of the former, and all the first settlers were compelled to buy their homes from him.

Daniel Bryan remained at the Station during his life. One of his sons removed to Jessamine county, near the Fayette line. There are three of Daniel Bryan's grand sons living—Thos. Bryan, living on the Harrodsburg and Lexington Pike, Joseph Bryan, living on the Nicholasville and Lexington Pike, and Lewis Bryan, residing near Palmyra, Mo. The last named gentleman as we have said before, is in his 84th year, with a good strong mind and much stronger physically than men of his age generally are. He informed us that he passed through this county 73 years ago, when he was but ten years of age, in company with others on their way to the Forks of Licking River, the best fishing grounds in Kentucky, at that time. They fished in South Licking one mile above Falmouth. Cynthiana had no existence then—there was not even a settlement near this place that is remembered. The fishing party passed down on the west side of the River, and the country was a dense forest. Now how changed! The trees have been cut away by the old pioneers—dwellings and fencing have been built, and every hill top doth blossom and bloom with every returning spring. In place of the wild cry of the howl, we hear the shrill whistle of the locomotive, and merry jingle of the smelter's anvil. These facts are indications of progress, civilization and christianization; and to every Kentuckian, who is a well wisher of this commonwealth, a source of much gratification.

Then, we believe that to celebrate the centennial anniversary of the advent of Boone, in Kentucky, would be very appropriate.

Commercial Bank of Kentucky.
An election was held yesterday in this city at the directors rooms of the Commercial Bank of Kentucky, by the stockholders thereof, for five directors for the Principal Bank at this place, and five directors for each of its branches. The stock of the several branches was more fully represented than usual, and the utmost harmony and most perfect good feeling prevailed. Several of the largest stock-holders from the interior of Kentucky were in attendance. The following directors were elected: Principal Bank at Paducah.—L. M. Flournoy, J. F. Harris, Q. C. Quigley, W. A. Bell, and A. A. Trimble.

Louisville Branch.—D. S. Benedict, Isaac Caldwell, J. M. Monahan, M. G. Anders, and W. C. Hall.

Versailles Branch.—D. Thornton, J. D. Helm, J. Williams, Sam. Nuckols, and L. A. Curry.

Lebanon Branch.—R. H. Rountree, Saml. Spalding, R. B. Edmonds, Jno. McElroy and J. G. Phillips.

Harrodsburg Branch.—S. McBrayer, D. M. Bowman, D. J. Curry, H. H. White, and B. F. Bolivar.

Cynthiana Branch.—J. W. Peck, Caleb Walton, John McKee, P. Kintley, and H. E. Shawhan.—[Paducah Kentuckian.]

The language of nature and experience demonstrates that whoever would enjoy the pleasures of food, the beauties of landscape, the joys of companionship, the riches of literature, or the honors of station and renown, must preserve their health. The effect of foul, injurious food, entering the stomach, is to derange the digestive organs and produce headache, loss of appetite, unrefreshing sleep, low spirits, feverish burnings, etc., which are the symptoms of that horrid disease, Dyspepsia, which assumes a thousand shapes, and points toward a miserable life and premature decay. Plantation Bitters will prevent, overcome and counteract all of these effects. They act with unerring power, and are taken with the pleasure of a beverage.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne and sold at half the price.

Mr. Alfred Barlow, of the Richland Precinct, a standing up democrat heretofore, was Chairman of the last Precinct Democratic convention, voted against his own ticket. That won't do.

Mr. Martin Hutchison, living near Hutchison's Station, Bourbon County, fell dead from his horse, on Tuesday last. He was a highly respectable citizen.

FOR SALE.
A FINE
BLUE GRASS FARM!
Having determined to sell my Farm I now offer for sale 1200 acres of good land, 7 1/2 miles from Cynthiana, and 1 1/2 miles from Oldville, in a good neighborhood, convenient to schools, churches, store and mills. There is on the Farm a fine (nearly new) two story frame house, with four rooms and an ell, with two rooms and good porch; also, a fine Barn, shedded all around, with room sufficient to hold and feed 100 head of horses or mules; with smoke house, negro house, carriage house, spring house, ice house, ware house, store house, mill house, and a good copper still house, with copper sufficient to make 12 tubs, or 24 bushels, per day, now in complete order, and ready to run at any day, under the late order or ruling, having all the pipe painted, and everything ready to work. Also good crib.
There is on the Farm an apple orchard of the finest graded fruit in Kentucky; also peaches, berries, cherries, plums, gooseberries, currants, raspberries, blackberries, and also about one acre of fine strawberry. Also three of the best garden as are in Kentucky; and a very fine sugar orchard. About 35 acres is in cultivation or ploughed land, the balance is finely set in blue grass.
Any person wishing to engage in a small farming business, or to graze stock, or sell goods, or carry on a distillery business could not do better than to call and examine this Farm before purchasing elsewhere, or if any person should wish to erect a steam distillery, could not do better than to buy this Farm, as there is one of the finest old flowing springs in Kentucky, close to the distillery, that would make 500 barrels per year round. It is near to wood, within two miles of a good pike, and a probability that a pike will be run by the house, and the road is good to the pike at present.
Considering all the advantages, it is a rare opportunity to get a bargain. Any person wishing to purchase had better apply to the undersigned immediately, or to M. D. Whitaker, who will give all the information desired.
Price, 30 dollars per acre, without the distillery apparatus, but will sell the same at a fair price if the purchaser so desire.
May 6-1f.
Hogs Wanted.

Without a Good Digestion
All other temporal blessings are comparatively worthless. The dispeptic millionaire who has tried all the potions of the medical profession in vain, and believes his complaint to be incurable, would give half his fortune to be freed from the horrors of indigestion, and thus enabled to enjoy the other half. Of course he would.
Perhaps Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been recommended to such a sufferer. Possibly he has turned from the friend who made the suggestion with a sneer, intimating that he has no faith in any "patent medicine." If this has been the case, so much the worse for him. His incredulity does him too much harm. The luxury which wealth can purchase is at his command. No one of them can give him pain. His own irrational obstinacy is his bane.
The masses, happily for themselves, are less credulous. There is such a bigoted credulity, and a golden mean between the two, which men and women who are gifted with common sense adopt and profit by. These are the class that patronize and recommend Hostetter's Bitters. Why do they approve this famous anti-dyspeptic and anti-bilious preparation? Simply because they have not been too much the slaves of senseless prejudice to give it a fair trial, and have found that when all other tonics, stimulants and stomachics failed, it produced the desired effect.
"Strike, but hear," said the Roman sage, when his ignorant enemies were assailing him. "Doubt, but try," says the man who has been cured of indigestion, or biliousness, or intermittent fever, by the Bitters, as he relates his experience of the medicine to his invalid friends. Whoever is so wedded to his own foregone theoretical conclusions, as to decline to test the properties of a medicine endorsed by the testimony of intelligent men in every walk of life, and approved by the people at large, deserves to suffer.

CYNTHIANA NEWS.

CYNTHIANA, KY.

THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1869.

LOCAL MATTER.

James Cleveland called to see us last week.

FINE LONG WOOL.—Last week we were shown by Mr. J. H. Gray, of this county, a fine specimen of this year's clip of combing wool—it is as fine as Cashmere wool, and as clean as if it had been worked. The buck from which the wool was taken sheared 15 pounds after he had been heavily trimmed—and this too from a yearling. Mr. Gray will have 500 pounds of wool.

"Barrett's" Wonderful Hair Restorative.

TOM GREEN'S BALD EAGLE.—At the Harrison Hotel Bar-room can be seen one of the largest Bald Eagles ever caught in this or any other county on the face of the earth. This Eagle is so large, and so wide from tip to tip, that if we were to give a statement in figures of his size, our readers would discredit us, and would say that we had fabricated. He is called "Tommy" for short, in one respect, and in another in honor of all the "Thomas Hawks," in the United States. No charge is made for showing this Eagle.

On Saturday the 22d of this month a Temperance Picnic will take place at or near Millersburg, Bourbon county, when Septimus Wall, Esq., the leader of the Temperance move in Kentucky, Col. W. P. C. Breckinridge, Robt. Williams, of Paris, and many other noted Temperance men will speak. The people in and about Millersburg are clever and hospitable, and will leave nothing undone which will tend to make this an agreeable meeting to those who may favor them with a visit. Everybody is invited.

Picking up small things that can be carried off easily, especially so when those things don't belong to the individual, has become rather too common in Cynthiana. A white boy carried off a basket the other day from a grocery, which he knew did not belong to him, and we have been requested to say that unless he returns it inside of a week, that he will be prosecuted for stealing.

Great demand for "Barrett's." Our enterprising young friend W. T. Turner, of this county, sold his splendid sorrel colt last week, for $300, to Messrs. Curran & Redmon.

Robt. Scott, Esq., of this county, disposed of a number one pair of fat steers to Green and Ashbrook recently, which weighed 4,989 lbs., at 8 cents per pound.

No SMALL POX.—As many people took great pains to circulate the fact that the town of Cynthiana was afflicted with small pox, and made more hue and cry about it than was necessary; we desire now that they should make themselves just as busy in reporting that no small pox exists here. We are free from it at last. In fact none but colored people had it from the beginning to the end. Cynthiana is itself again.

Last week Cynthiana was filled with more excitement than usual on the "Liniment question." A large man with a short mustache, had a "cure all" that could beat the world, and a small man had "McBrides King of Pain," and Dr. Douglass had on hand his stock in trade, and the excitement grew stronger and stronger, until it was believed by all strangers, as they came in town that we had a circus—and it did not subside until the setting of the sun,—which proves that the charlatan has become an institution of the country.

The Kentucky Central Railroad are putting up a How Truss Bridge, over Townsend, which will make that crossing perfectly safe.

The attention of our readers is directed to the advertisement of the Harrison Hotel, in another column. It is now a good hotel, and the landlord, Mr. St. Clair, can keep hotel.

Cyrus B. Cook's large flouring mill, is rapidly approaching completion, and when finished will be one of the finest and most complete establishments ever erected in Kentucky. It reflects great credit upon Mr. C.

Call for "Barrett's" and take no other.

To-night a splendid show will come off at Reneker's Hall. Every body should go.

Howard and Bowen started their distillery last Wednesday week. It is situated near Ruddles Mills; and they made on their first mash 31 gallons to the bushel. The whiskey is said to be an excellent article.

T. R. Rankin, Esq., of this county sold his celebrated mocking bird "Pete Everett," to John Banks, of this city, for the sum of $25. That is rather "fowl."

A young lad 3 years of age—a very promising boy—son of E. B. Durant, fell into a tub of hot water last Saturday and was so badly scalded that he died. Mr. Durant is a son-in-law of Andrew Boyd, Esq., of Boyd Station.

A. D. Bales was re-elected in the Claysville precinct last Saturday, for the office of Constable. We have known Mr. B. for a number of years, and have always found him an honest, energetic and worthy man.

The Distilleries of Wm. Conner & Co., Gray & Craig, and John G. Redmon, have shut up shop. The large Distilleries of B. K. Reynolds & Co., and C. B. Cook, will shut up shop next week.

High wines have advanced about 5 per cent within the last week and our whiskeys have an upward tendency.

We condemn negro testimony to-day as heartily as we did one year ago; and we have heard no good reason why we should change. It is a free-nigger, Black-Republican cry, and the Rads would like to force the Democracy into an acceptance of their ideas. It won't go down.

We were pleased to meet our handsome young friend William H. Woodford, formerly of Covington, but now of Owensboro, where he and his brother John are doing business.

Dr. Blades was in Cynthiana last week.

Mr. John Collins sold his black smith shop, situated near the bridge, on main street, last week to William Bowers, for $1,650. A cheap bargain.

A difficulty occurred at Karne's Still House, in Grant county, a few days since, in which W. T. Webster was killed by Karne's, by a lick on the head with a billet of wood.

Dr. Madison, proprietor of the Planter's Hotel, Covington, called to see us. The Doctor says he is keeping a good Hotel, and we believe him.

Turnpikes are all the go in and around Cynthiana just now. The Commersville, the Buena Vista, and the Lair's Station pikes will be built this summer; and one to the Fair grounds.

OBDEVILLE, May 10, 1869.

If Dr. N. C. Dille will permit his name to be used before the Democratic Convention as a candidate for a seat in the Lower House of our State Legislature, he will receive the support of his old neighbors, and MANY FRIENDS. Col. Craddock, of the True Kentuckian, has been called upon to permit his name to go before the county convention of Bourbon, as a candidate for the Legislature. He is qualified and worthy, and it would benefit him and his county to represent her. We notice that the Colonel in his card has left the matter in the hands of his friends. We hope to see the delegation from Centerville instructed for him.

Politics in this county had some attention last Monday. We met Mr. D. Martin, and he remarked that he was in the hands of the people and would abide their decision—and if they desired would represent them again. We have not received answers from the other gentlemen.

As New Buildings are going up and men desire to have good fire proof roofs, we would direct their attention particularly to the advertisement of Caldwell & Co., No. 139 West 2nd st., Cincinnati, Ohio, who has for sale the "Outcall's Elastic Joint Iron Roofing," for sale. It is said to be cheaper and more durable than any other. We expect to see this roofing soon.

Last Monday, a respectable citizen of Grant county named Boyers, dropped dead in the streets of Williamstown.

Our friend Hargis of the "Carlisle Mercury," is making a move to get a thoroughgoing qualified Democrat on the track for the Legislature from Robertson and Nicholas. We know the Captain is sound, and will offer no proposition which will not have the right ring to it.

Mr. Adam Reneker has fitted up "Reneker Hall," in fine style, and can accommodate any number of traveling or local managers, with a place to exhibit. Prices nominal.

"Barrett's" makes the head feel fine.

Week before last we heard a very interesting lecture from Mr. Abney, (late of Cincinnati,) but formerly of South Carolina, on the personality of Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve Apostles of Christ. The ideas advanced were new and curious. Much was said of the early history of Mr. Iscariot, which was not generally known, except to those who have made Theology a study,—and the peculiar defence which Mr. Abney set up for him, as being respectable and respected as any other of the Apostles, indicated a boldness of thought and originality, not found with young men everywhere. It was worth hearing.

On the First Sunday in this month Elder Samuel Rogers preached his farewell sermon. He goes to Missouri to spend the summer. We hope he may find all things agreeable.

A little girl and boy were bitten by a mad dog in Covington last Monday. We see no muzzles on the town dogs yet.

At the sale made by All. Day last week 115 acres of his land was sold for $75 per acre; 60 acres for $65; and 40 acres for $45 per acre. A fine black mare was sold for $510. E. D. Cason was the purchaser of the land and mare.

Henry Williams is building a new front to his residence the Millersburg pike.

R. T. Wheritt has nearly finished his new residence on Pleasant street.

The clergy use "Barrett's."

LENSBURG, May 11, 1869. MRS. A. J. MOORE: In response to the call on me in your paper sometime since desiring me to become a candidate for the Legislature for this county, I have to say as I have long since said to many friends when they were urging me to be a candidate that my health was not good and my private affairs require my attention. I supposed what I had said to them on so many occasions, was of itself sufficient without a response in your paper, but I must decline the honor tendered me by my neighbors and friends of the county, and regret very much that I cannot accede to their wishes. I am now as I have been a State's Right man. I am very respectfully your friend, and well wisher.

R. T. BOSWELL.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Presbyterian church of this city, and the Mt. Pleasant church, of Broadwell, held in the church in this city, on Friday next at 4 o'clock, P. M., to consider the matter of procuring a minister to supply both churches. It is hoped that all who feel an interest in this matter will not fail to be present.

On next Sunday at 10 o'clock, A. M., I will preach on the subject of infant salvation, and will show that all dying in infancy are saved without baptism.

D. W. CASE.

MARRIED.

In Wellington, Mo., by Elder W. H. Robinson, on the 15th April, John A. Bedford, late of Ky., to Miss Lizzy Freeman. Attendants: J. W. Houston and Miss Sallie McDonald.

BIRTHS.

On February 21, to the Hon. A. H. Ward, a daughter, Maude.

On December 20, 1868, to the wife of J. A. Wolford, a daughter, Mary Alida.

DIED.

Mrs. Margaret McCoy, nee Redmon of Bourbon county, died in Indiana on the 16th ult., aged 82 years.

At his residence in Jessamine co., May 8, 1869, Mr. Craig Ashurst, aged about 70 years.

In this city, May 11th, Miss Nancy Munday aged about 25 years.

Notice to Trespassers.

WE, the undersigned hereby give notice to all persons, that they are prohibited from hunting, fishing, throwing down fences, or berry picking upon our land—as we will enforce the law against all offenders, even hunters especially.

Elijah Moore, Levi Moore, J. F. Pollard, John H. Whittaker, Wm. Pugh, J. N. Bayless, Thos. Bocket, Thos. J. Langley, Robt. Worrel, Wm. Worrel, H. W. Cleveland, James A. Cleveland, Geo. M. Pugh, Perry Bayless, James Jolly, Solomon Whisen, Jr., Steven Whalin, Jr., Garrison Baker, A. D. Bayless, Susan Harcum, John Pugh, Polly Everett, Margaret Whitehead, May 13-3m.

NOTICE.—We, James Rollins, Thos. Boyd, Dr. T. W. Hedges, J. P. Blair, J. T. B. Crouch, hereby notify the people of Harrison county that we will make application for a charter on next County Court day for a Turnpike road, to commence at Boyd's Station and run to Colemanville, passing over the lands of Andrew Boyd, J. N. McNeese, Wm. Kendall, Sr., P. Higgins, J. B. Crouch, &c., a distance of about one mile and a half. May 13-3m.

AT PRIVATE SALE.

AN ELEGANT Suburban Residence, With Spacious Grounds, Fine Vinyard, Garden, &c., ATTACHED.

My business affairs compelling me to go to Europe, I offer for sale my residence on the Georgetown pike, in the Southwest suburb of Paris, about eight minutes walk from the Court-house. The house is a substantial two-story brick, with eight rooms, hard and cool dry cellar. A No. 1 fence-house, stable, buggy shed, and all necessary outbuildings on the premises; also, a large cistern and a splendid never-failing spring of excellent water. The grounds contain about

TEN ACRES;

Six acres in a valuable young vineyard, containing 10,000 vines of choice grapes yielding abundantly; the rest in pasture, yard and garden—the latter now planted. Also, a fine young peach orchard of 250 trees, which will bear this year; apples, pears, and other fruit. All is enclosed with good fences, and everything about the place is in excellent condition. It can easily be cut up into town lots, and adjoining lots have brought high prices. The vineyard alone will, with proper attention, yield the purchaser a comfortable income. Nothing but the absolute necessity which demands my personal presence in Europe would induce me to part with it. Terms reasonable.

I will take pleasure in showing the premises to any one wishing to examine them. V. BOOS, May 13-2t. (send bill to Kentuckian.)

THE AMERICAN SHUTTLE Sewing Machine.

Is retailed at a price within the reach of all. It uses a straight needle, makes the lock stitch (alike on both sides), has a self-adjusting tension, and can do every variety of sewing. It will hem, fell, bind, cover, braid, seam, quilt, tuck, ruffle and gather will work equally as well on silk, linen, woolen or cotton goods, with silk, linen, cotton thread.

THE AMERICAN SHUTTLE MACHINE IS

Warranted for Five Years.
Our agents will be furnished with duplicate parts of the machine in case of accident. It makes precisely the same stitch made by the Singer, Wheeler & Wilson, Hovee, and Florence machines. It has the under-feed, like the best of high-priced machines, and is the only low priced shuttle machine in the market that has this feed.
We are enabled to sell a first-class shuttle machine at a very low price, on account of its simplicity, and consequent low cost of manufacturing, in comparison with complicated machines.

AGENTS.
We wish to arrange with agents, male or female, to represent the American Shuttle Sewing Machine, in each State, county and town in the United States and Ontario.
Extra inducements to experienced agents.
